

About Us

Description

Provider products for access and in home networks

The right connectivity with optimal availability

Hirschmann Provider Products is a pioneer in the development, production and supply of network products for access and in-home applications. We benefit from many years of market experience and acquired knowledge to develop advanced and high-quality products.

Our future-proof products and concepts help to ensure the right connectivity with optimal availability. Products from Hirschmann Provider Products enable providers and operators to roll out the constant expansion of bandwidth in an energy efficient and cost-effective way. Developments are driven by innovation, first time right installation and smart and easy operation of products.

What are the features of our innovations?

- Maximizing proven technologies;
- High performance at high specification levels;
- Low energy consumption at high-performance;
- Sustainable development and production;
- Cost-efficient low opex, smart capex;
- Compatible with the latest technical standards;
- Modular production and development;
- Simple migration and transition;

- Short network setup time thanks to automation.

Philosophy and expertise

Hirschmann Provider Products uses the 'top class' components, allowing us to develop the most innovative products. We continuously strive to lower energy consumption and find the most advanced and efficient technology to ensure that our products are as future-proof as possible.

Our products have the lowest possible Total Cost of Ownership (TCO), thanks to:

- Platform Modularity to enable optimized production flexibility;
- High-tech processor-guided processing and controls;
- Simple, practical installation;
- Management;
- Rapid commissioning;
- Straightforward migration options in practice to new technologies and standards.

default watermark

Product Portfolio

Hirschmann Products are developed and produced with care and attention to detail. Our DNA acts as a standard from a number of primary aspects, which are prominent in almost all of our products. From the point of view of our environment-conscious behavior we find it very important to use a very low energy consumption in every product, which is of course related to the high performance which is always present.

Discover our complete product range

Date Created

January 2022

Author

buroadmin

default watermark